

CIVITAVECCHIA TO BARCELONA - ITALY, FRANCE & SPAIN LUXURY 9 DAY CRUISE

Italy's history and flavors, the Riviera's glamour, and Spain's surreal creativity -- it's all here on this November voyage. From the streets of Rome, surrounded by echoes of history, visit Tuscany, where the Leaning Tower of Pisa and Florence rise inland. Genoa's basil fragrances, Corsica's clear seas, and the canals, waterfront boulevards, and maritime history of southern France come before Mallorca and Barcelona.

ITINERARY

Day 1 - Civitavecchia (Rome)

Gateway to the Eternal City, Civitavecchia opens the way to Rome's incomparable abundance of art, empire, and daily life lived among ruins. From the Forum and the Colosseum to Baroque piazzas and churches, fountains, and cafe-lined streets, the capital unfolds as a continuous dialogue between antiquity and modern Italian elegance, with every corner seeming to hold another masterpiece. It is one of the world's great cruise calls, rewarding curiosity with grandeur, beauty, and endless layers of history, and few visitors leave without wanting to return.

Day 2 - Livorno (Tuscany)

Livorno is a historic Tuscan port with a breezy seafront character and the rare advantage of opening the way to some of Italy's greatest cultural treasures. In town, canals, seafood, and the refined Terrazza Mascagni offer a taste of local life, while Pisa, Lucca, and Florence lie within reach inland. Whether you stay by the coast or venture into Tuscany, this stop balances maritime ease with art, architecture, and unmistakable Italian flavor in a setting made for unhurried discovery beside the Tyrrhenian Sea.

Day 3 - Genoa

Genoa is one of Italy's great maritime cities, a place of palaces, narrow lanes, and seafaring wealth layered along the Ligurian coast. Once a dominant republic and trading power, it still reveals that prosperous past in grand architecture, lively piazzas, and the dense historic center that tumbles toward the harbor, while the legacy of Christopher Columbus adds another famous thread. For visitors who choose a cruise to Italy, Genoa offers a more textured, less polished Riviera experience: cultured, urban, and deeply authentic.

Day 4 - Ajaccio (Corsica)

Ajaccio, birthplace of Napoleon, combines Corsican sunlight with a quietly elegant waterfront and a history that reaches far beyond its modest scale. Palm-lined squares, pastel facades, lively markets, and nearby beaches give the city a relaxed Mediterranean charm, while monuments and museums recall its most famous son. It is an inviting introduction to Corsica, where imperial memory, island scenery, and an unhurried southern rhythm create a stop of lasting appeal beneath an atmosphere of sunlit ease.

Day 5 - Toulon

Often overlooked in favor of glitzier Riviera neighbors, Toulon reveals a more grounded and genuinely maritime face of southern France. France's principal naval port, it balances working harbor energy with Provençal markets, sunlit squares, and easy access to the limestone beauty of nearby coves and hills. The city rewards those willing to look past first impressions, offering authenticity, sea air, and a distinctly local rhythm; one of those cruise stops that neatly combine scenic beauty, cultural depth, and the pleasure of lingering ashore.

Day 6 - Sete

Sete sits on a narrow strip of land between the Mediterranean Sea and the Étang de Thau lagoon, a position that has shaped the city's identity as a fishing port, an oyster-farming center, and a place of particular literary and musical character. The poet Paul Valery and the singer Georges Brassens were both born here, and both are buried on a hillside overlooking the sea. The Canal Royal, lined with brightly painted trawlers and waterside restaurants serving fresh thon and oysters, is the city's defining image. Sete remains, pleasingly, one of France's least-discovered Mediterranean ports

Day 7 - Roses

Roses sits on the Costa Brava, in Girona Province, where the green mountains of the Pyrenees roll toward clear water, wide beaches, and rocky coves. Behind the golden sand of Platja Nova is the vast Ciutadella de Roses, a fortress complex that also contains ancient Greek and Roman ruins. An exhibition space near the town celebrates the legacy of the legendary restaurant El Bulli, while fresh Catalan seafood features prominently in local restaurants.

Day 8 - Palma de Mallorca

Palma de Mallorca combines the Balearic coast with dramatic scenery, offering a destination rich in personality. There is plenty to absorb in Mediterranean cuisine and Mallorcan culture, which showcase the stop's unique identity and reveal how much atmosphere can be contained within a relatively compact call. The stop feels especially satisfying for travelers who prefer places with depth, atmosphere, and something genuine to discover beneath the obvious highlights, and it feels worthy of more than a passing glance.

Day 9 - Barcelona

Barcelona is a compelling stop where the infinite variety of street life, the nooks and crannies of the medieval Barri Gotico, the ceramic tiles and stained glass of Art Nouveau facades, the art, and music, the throb of street life. The capital of Catalonia is a banquet for the senses, with its beguiling mix of ancient and modern architecture, tempting cafes and markets, and sun-drenched Mediterranean beaches. A stroll along La Rambla and through waterfront Barceloneta, as well as a tour of Gauda
