KOLKATA TO BENGAL VIA BANGLADESH

cruise across five legendary Himalayan life force rivers, the Brahmaputra, Jamna, Padma, Meghna and Hooghly through India and Bangladesh. Sailing aboard the sturdy, three engine MV Mahabaahu, this rare journey reveals rural tranquility, vibrant riverine life, and the dramatic power of the great confluences, where the Jamna meets the Ganga, and further south where the Padma surges into the Meghna. Golden sunrises, glowing sunsets and long, shimmering "golden hours" frame both the quiet riverbanks and the bustling cities of Kolkata, Narayanganj and Dhaka. This itinerary is exceptionally rich in wildlife, with immersive experiences across Manas National Park, the Bangladesh Sundarbans, and the Ramsar listed Indian Sundarbans. These encounters offer a vivid portrait of the cultural and economic lifelines of India and Bangladesh. From Kolkata, the former capital of undivided India, to Sonargaon, the ancient capital of Bengal, the cruise traces centuries of history. Guests explore the evocative ruins of Panam City and the vibrant energy of Dhaka, enriched by onboard talks, presentations, videos and expert orientation from the naturalist, destination manager and guides. Optional excursions along the Upper Hooghly reveal the layered colonial influences of the Portuguese, Danish, French and British.

ITINERARY

Day 1: Kolkata

We stop in Kolkata for immigration formalities for 2 hrs
Breakfast, Lunch and Dinner on board MV Mahabaahu

Day2:

We explore the waters of the Indian Sunderbans in a comfortable local ferry with comfortable seating. We enjoy tea/coffee and cookies as we look for wildlife. We return to the ship for a quick breakfast and then enjoy Purulia cultural performance in one of the villages. We also listen to the baul singers--they are the mystic minstrels of Bengal. We visit the Mangrove Interpretation Centre at Sajnekhali. Here we walk to see wildlife. After lunch we go in for another boat safari in Sajnekhali to look in the narrow water inlets for some more wildlife. Breakfast, Lunch and Dinner on MV Mahabaahu

Day 3

Yoga, Breakfast and a talk on "Bangladesh as a country, its monuments culture and commercial enterprises". This is a complete day for sailing from Hemnagar to Mongla Port and getting through custom clearance formalities. It is a laid-back relaxing day but with a lot of official activity on board both for custom and immigration clearance. At Hemnagar, the Indian Border Security Force does a check and the customs personnel clear us through to exit the Indian land border and we sail the Indian waters till we reach Angti-hara. Here we exit the Indian waters. We reach Shekhbaria for custom clearance on the Bangladesh side. The Bangladesh Border Guards clear the ship and the guests for immigration formalities. We use this day to pamper ourselves in the SPA or enjoy a dip in the pool. This evening we learn the art of wearing an Indian Sari Breakfast, lunch and dinner on MV Mahabaahu Daingmari Dolphin Sanctuary. After lunch we take our tenders to sail in the Daingmari waters for not just dolphins but also to watch the techniques of otter fishing undertaken by the fishing community. The ship sails towards Mongla Port and we take a drive to the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Bagerhat--A sixty domed mosque and tomb of Khan Jahan, the architect of the mosque. We return to the ship for a cultural performance on the Sundarban communities through 'Poter Gaan'. The performers also bring some handicrafts to sell to the guests. Breakfast, Lunch and Dinner on MV Mahabaahu

Day 5

An early morning wake up for an exciting boat safari. This day we sail in our tenders along the shores of Sundarbans, in the canals and creeks near the Kotka forest station for an hour and a half to catch wildlife (spotted deer, monkeys, wild boar, water monitor and birds) as it wakes up among the aerial roots of the mangrove mudflats. We return to MV Mahabaahu for breakfast as the ship sails through the estuary waters and reaches Jamtola Beach in the Bay of Bengal. We walk through the mangrove vegetation where the tiger playhide and seek as it leaves behind 'fresh pugmarks'. For those of us who are water enthusiasts can indulge in taking a dip in the waters of Bay of Bengal (Carryswim wear on this day). We return to the ship for lunch and the ship sails towards Chandpai Dolphin Sanctuary. After dinner we enjoy a night safari in the Chandpai water inlets close to the mangrove shores. This is a very exciting and different experience in these water laden animal sanctuaries. Breakfast, lunch and Dinner on board MV Mahabaahu

Day 6:

We leave the ship at 04:30 hrs with packed breakfast and we drive (29 kms/ 1 hr) to the floating vegetable market. We enjoy the pristine beauty of the countryside and the shopping habitat of the growers--seasonal vegetables and fruits, paddy, rice saplings, timber, furniture and boats selling tea and local breakfast varieties in one of the inlet waterways of a village. This is a unique experience, and one can see that everything that needs to be transported is done on the river. It is a very engrossing site, and one must be quick with cameras as the boats fly by. We snack on the local tidbits for breakfast and buy the local vegetables and fruits and are back on the ship by 0900 hrs. At Barisal we walk through the thriving village market for fresh vegetables and local fruits as well as spices. We enjoy assisted shopping. We visit one of the Bangladeshi ferries to see its layout on the inside. This evening our fresh vegetables show up at our table. We spend time in the lounge and enjoy dinner on board. Lunch and Dinner on board --we carry some packed lunch with us too

Day 7

We sail out of Barisal and we treat ourselves to Yog on the sundeck and a leisurely breakfast as we cruise into the waters of Padma (Ganga and Jamuna) and Meghna. After breakfast we have an orientation on the visit for the day and the next day). The volume and quantity of water at the confluence is immense and one can see the locals; very skilled fishermen ride the waves in these waters. The fishermen of this area are known for Hilsa fishing. Hilsa is a delicacy of Bangladesh. We arrive at a Hilsa fishing village and engage with the locals for Hilsa, prawns and shrimps. We also enjoy a fresh catch of prawns. This afternoon we enjoy an authentic Bangladeshi style fish curry and rice. This evening we sail into Dhaka and enjoy a walk in the vicinity. Breakfast, lunch and dinner on MV Mahabaahu
