

SVALBARD 10 DAY SPRING PHOTO TOUR

Capture the Frozen Magic of Svalbard in Spring Early spring in Svalbard is like nowhere else on Earth - a frozen fairytale of pastel skies, pristine snow, and glimmering ice. With sub-zero temperatures and dreamlike light, this is the season landscape photographers long for. Fjords shimmer with crystalline sea ice, snow-capped peaks stretch into the distance, and Arctic wildlife emerges cautiously after the long polar night. This is your chance to capture the magic with two of the world's leading polar photography guides. Dean Tatooles and Randy Hanna, both renowned for their compelling imagery and hands-on teaching styles, will guide you through this enchanting Arctic environment. Whether you're stepping off auto mode for the first time or refining advanced techniques, they'll help you elevate your skills and create images that truly tell a story. With the soft glow of endless sunrises and sunsets, every moment in Svalbard's spring is an opportunity. Dean and Randy will take you into the field to make the most of the season's unique conditions - coaching you on composition, light, and timing as you shoot striking landscapes and elusive wildlife in their snowy element. This is more than a photography trip - it's an invitation to slow down, connect with the environment, and discover your potential as a photographer in one of the most serene and awe-inspiring settings on Earth.

ITINERARY

Day 1 Longyearbyen

Depart Longyearbyen at 4pm.

Sail past striking Fuglefjella (Bird Mountain), a fine example of plateau mountainous landscape, as we leave Longyearbyen.

Day 2 Poolepynten

Explore Poolepynten, a headland on Prins Karls Forland, home to a walrus colony and burial site.

Days 3 - 7 Svalbard Exploration

Search the ice edge, a dynamic setting of texture and light, home to seals, seabirds, and polar bears.

Turn south to Fuglefjorden, for a Zodiac cruise of Svitjodbreen, on the hunt for calving ice.

Tour St. Johnsfjord, landing at Copper Camp to view cultural remains.

Land at Varsolbukta in Van Mijenfjord to view Camp Bell, a prospector's hut, and hopefully meet some reindeer.

Days 8 - 9 Hornsund

See Hornsund, with a landing in Gnalodden to marvel at the scenic bird cliff (home to black-legged kittiwakes) and trapper's hut.

Return north to Isfjorden and Longyearbyen.

Day 10 Longyearbyen

Disembark in Longyearbyen at 9am.
